

Noted African American psychologist to open Black History Month here

Dr. Na'im Akbar

Dr. Na'im Akbar, an internationally noted African American psychologist and an authority on African American personality development, opens Gallaudet's celebration of Black History Month with a Feb. 1 address to the University community from noon to 2 p.m. in Ely Auditorium. Akbar's topic will be African American organizations and their futures.

Akbar, a former president of the National Association of Black Psychologists, teaches in the Department of Psychology at Florida State University, Tallahassee, and is the director of his own consulting firm, Mind Productions and Associates. He has written five books and more than 25 scholarly articles.

Akbar has been interviewed on several television programs, including "Tony Brown's Journal," "The Geraldo Show," "The Oprah Winfrey Show," and Black Entertainment Television's "Our Voices." Articles about him have appeared in Essence, The Washington Post, and Ebony Man.

Among Akbar's awards are the Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., Distinguished Scholar Award from Florida State University and the Community Service Award from the National Association of Black Social Workers.

Akbar's talk kicks off a calendar filled with activities scheduled by the University's Black History Month Planning Committee to celebrate this year's theme for the national celebration, "Empowering African American Organizations: Present and Future." The University has expanded on the theme by adding the phrase "Passing the Torch" to emphasize that it is up to rising generations to carry on the quest for racial equality.

Faculty/Staff Campaign exceeds goal

Gallaudet's 1993-94 Faculty/Staff Campaign shattered its $60,000 goal, raising $86,951 in gifts and pledges. More than 380 employees (28.7 percent) contributed to the campaign, which ran Nov. 1 to Dec. 31, making it by far the University's most successful Faculty/Staff Campaign ever.

The majority of the gifts were designated for the renovation of the Hall Memorial Building (HMB).

Everyone in the School of Management made a gift, thanks to the efforts of volunteers Dr. Marshall Wick and Dr. Ronald Sutcliffe, making it the only school to achieve 100 percent participation. Overall, 19 departments achieved the 100 percent mark.

Several donors made their gifts to HMB in memory of Larry Stewart, the late psychology professor, in the hope that a room in HMB will be named in his memory. Other gifts were designated for the Linwood Smith Memorial Scholarship Fund, the Joseph Mattivi Memorial Scholarship Fund, the Eli Savanick Memorial Fund, the Peter Burke Hobbs Scholarship Fund, the MSSD 25th Anniversary Fund, the MSSD Performing Arts Dept., the KDES "We Care" Fund, and others.

The key to the campaign's success, said campaign co-chairs Dr. John Schuchman and Agnes Sutcliffe, was the involvement of the 55 volunteers from across the University. "I'm so happy that many volunteers worked together to make this campaign possible," said Sutcliffe, a sign language instructor in the Department of Sign Communication. "I think it brought the Gallaudet family even closer together."

"Given the short duration of the campaign, it was rewarding to see so many faculty and staff respond in such a positive manner," said Schuchman, a professor in the History Department.

Gallaudet has until July 1 to meet the $1.6 million necessary to qualify for the Kresge Foundation's challenge grant, which will provide the funding necessary to finish HMB. "The Faculty/Staff Campaign gave us an enormous boost in our efforts to meet the Kresge Challenge," said Dr. Margarete Hall, vice president for Institutional Advancement. "The high number of faculty and staff donors will strengthen our case as we ask outside constituencies to contribute."
